About Tadamon

Making CSOs Stronger

The IsDB - ISFD NGO Empowerment for Poverty Reduction Program (Tadamon) is a partnership program sponsored by the Islamic Solidarity Fund for Development (ISFD), managed and designed by the Islamic Development Bank (IsDB), and implemented by the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP). This booklet demonstrates how this initiative has evolved from providing visibility to Civil Society Organizations' (CSOs) projects and activities to facilitating and supporting innovative ideas that have potential to scale up in those Member Countries (MCs) of the Organization of Islamic Cooperation (OIC) that have endorsed the Program.

The program is being implemented during the years 2019-2024 among the 57 OIC member countries. Each year, around 7 priority countries are selected for the implementation of the program. Within the scope of the program, over 100 CSOs are empowered annually. The goal of this booklet is to illustrate the activities and achievements of the IsDB-ISFD NGO Empowerment Program for Poverty Reduction in Burkina Faso.

“This participation has been a great experience for us, not only in the context of crowdfunding, but also for the training opportunities offered by the Tadamon Crowdfunding Academy platform. As part of our campaign, we have learned a lot about the crowdfunding process and are ready to share this experience and make the platform known to other civil society organizations or NGOs”

Civil Society in Burkina Faso

Civil society organizations (CSOs) in Burkina Faso play a vital role in the country's development and social progress. Burkina Faso has a relatively active civil society sector that encompasses a wide range of organizations, including non-governmental organizations (NGOs), community-based organizations (CBOs), advocacy groups, professional associations, and trade unions.

CSOs in Burkina Faso are involved in various areas, including human rights, democracy, governance, education, health, agriculture, gender equality, environmental conservation, and poverty reduction. They often work closely with marginalized communities, advocating for their rights, providing services, and promoting sustainable development.

Burkina Faso has a favorable legal framework that allows for the registration and operation of CSOs. The 1901 Law on Associations and the 2012 Law on NGOs provide the legal basis for the establishment and functioning of non-profit organizations. The government recognizes the importance of civil society and has created structures, such as the Ministry of Human Rights and Civic Promotion, to support and collaborate with CSOs.

CSOs in Burkina Faso receive support from both domestic and international sources. International organizations, bilateral and multilateral donors, and development agencies provide funding, technical assistance, and capacity-building support to local organizations. These partnerships help strengthen the capacity of CSOs and enhance their ability to implement programs effectively.

However, it's important to note that Burkina Faso faces significant challenges that can impact the work of CSOs. The country has experienced security concerns, including armed conflict, terrorism, and intercommunal violence, particularly in the northern and eastern regions. These challenges can restrict the access and operations of CSOs in certain areas and affect their ability to reach vulnerable populations.

Additionally, limited financial resources, bureaucratic hurdles, and a sometimes fragile infrastructure can pose challenges for CSOs in Burkina Faso. Nonetheless, civil society remains active and resilient, contributing to social change, advocacy, and development efforts in the country.

It's important to acknowledge that the situation in Burkina Faso is at risk of rapid change which might affect the state of organizations in the country.

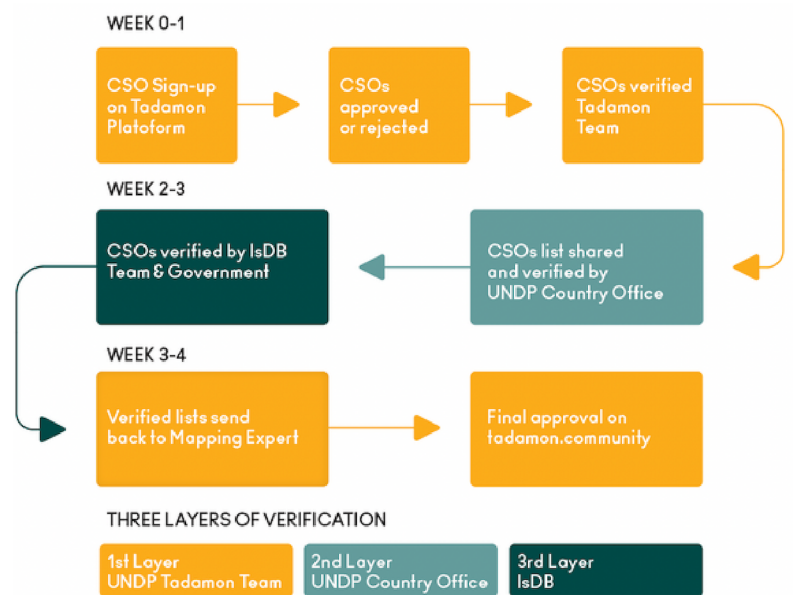

Mapping of CSOs

Since 2020, the program has mapped, categorised and surveyed the civil society landscape across 33 OIC member countries. In 2022 this mapping was conducted in Burkina Faso in order to better understand and get to know the people and organizations at the forefront of grassroots development.

Instead of relying on existing databases and directories, a new approach was specifically designed to have CSOs come to our platform. The goal was to identify the most active organizations that would benefit from the program and its activities, by having CSOs sign up on the Tadamon platform.

After signing up and passing our three-step verification process, CSOs gain access to participate in our activities: grant programs, financed by IsDB, Crowdfunding Academies and other forthcoming capacity building programs.

Sign Up Criteria

1. CSOs' activities are in line with IsDB's areas of interventions;
2. CSOs have no political affiliation
3. CSOs have a minimum of 2 years of experience
4. CSOs are registered and licensed to operate in their respective countries

CSO verification

CSOs that signed up to the platform go through a three-step verification process to ensure they are eligible for the program and have an official registration with local authorities. The applications are also reviewed for any fake applications and scammers.
